Upcoming Events

To the Sun City Naz Family...

We are not able to attend the services in person, therefore this letter. We do want you to know how we appreciate each one of you. The devotionals have been good and it is nice to have that constant thru the week. Your prayers are so very much appreciated and it is an encouragement to know we have not been forgotten. God is so good to us. He is blessing and giving us strength to get through the day. We are like the blind leading the blind. We keep each other and are so thankful we can stay together. This chemo is much more difficult than what I had before. It is a 3 1/2 hour process and then they hook me up to a pump that continues to put medicine into my body. I have that for 2 days and then I am free for the next week. That gives time to recover and deal with the side effects. The next week, we do it all over again. We are praising the Lord and trusting in Him. I am not discouraged although I have to fight it sometimes. Tell the people "thank you" for your prayers and cards. They are a great help. We love you all.
